FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MEDREFERRALS.ORG PROVIDES ONLINE HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES DATABASE FOR CHICAGO'S UNDERSERVED

Free website connects the underserved with quality care

CHICAGO, IL, August 29, 2010 - MedReferrals announced recently the launch of its new website, which is designed to compile a comprehensive online health and social services database providing greater access to quality care for the underserved in the Chicagoland area. The website allows healthcare professionals to search for accessible services based on individualized needs of their patients, such as language, type of insurance, and cost of care.

“Our goal is to make sure anyone and everyone who needs health care has a way to find it,” says Jordan Dale, one of the founders of MedReferrals. “The services are out there, and hopefully MedReferrals gives healthcare professionals an easy-to-use tool to ensure their patients get the care that best fits their needs.”

The website is fully integrated with Google Maps to make searching for quality care fast and easy for users. A visitor simply enters the type of care desired near a location, and the website returns a map of the returning results. The user can then click on the map for facility details, such as address, website, hours and contact information.

Additionally, MedReferrals allows users to search for affordable health and social services by category. Once the user selects a category, the search narrows to show only the facilities relevant to the patient's needs. Results are sorted both by name and location.

MedReferrals is requesting that health and social service providers help make the website even more powerful by adding or updating facility information and care details. In presenting the most accurate and relevant information, healthcare professionals can ensure they are contributing to a successful continuity of care for underserved patients.

To add or edit provider information, please visit www.medreferrals.org, log in or create an account on the website, and click "Add a Resource" on the left side of the page.
